

Punctuation: Lerato goes to the zoo

CAPITAL LETTERS are always used in words that start sentences. CAPITAL LETTERS are also used to write the names of things, places and people which are important.

Commas  give short breaks between words in a list.

Full stops  are always used to show a sentence has ended.

Lerato visits the zoo and writes a note to her grandmother about her day with the animals.

Help Lerato make her sentences perfect by adding CAPITAL LETTERS, commas and full stops to what she has written below.

16 june 2013

dear gogo

i went to johannesburg zoo today it was so much fun i saw giraffe zebra lion and elephant

i had a hotdog a fruit juice and a banana for lunch

i would like you to go with me to the zoo soon

love
lerato

Write Lerato's note again here, using CAPITAL LETTERS, commas and full stops.

Handwriting practice area with ten sets of dashed lines for writing.

Remind learners to always capitalise months of the year. Proper nouns are always written with capital letters.

Writing

Uses punctuation correctly: capital letters, full stops and commas.

CAPS
Grade 3 Term 2